COLLEGE WARS ON GREEDY RESTAURANTS

Washington Square Students Carry Luncheon Boxes.

Faculty and dudents of the Washington Square College of the University of New York have declared war against profiteering restaurant keepers of the Vashington Square district and the najority of them have pledged themselves to bring their own lunches ever day until the restaurant men lower them that way. The greater part of the incheon business has come from the students.

The battle against the profiteers opened yesterday when several hundred udents paraded around the university uilding, carrying lunch boxes and din-er palls and signs exhorting all students to bring their lunches. Members of the faculty got together, brought rockery and cooking utensils from home and cooked their own lunch on the ninth floor of the building. Several of the societies and sororities hold meetings during the day and adopted nese resolutions:
"We, the students of the Washington square College of New York University, n order to bring down the high cost of living, promise faithfully to bring our lunches to school each, day until uch time as the restaurant owners in this vicinity agree to bring their prices down to a reasonable level and keep them there."
